High Country Archery

No other archery company has ever enjoyed the rapid success experienced by High Country. Over the past four years what began as just another bow company has caught the fancy of bowhunters and tournament archers across the country. It started with the right idea and a bow made to shoot well. It featured 65% let-off and was not only shorter than most bows on the market but had larger E-wheels. It was the bow the bowhunters had been waiting for.

Over the next few years High Country bows continued to gain popularity in the field and on the range. In 1987 High Country won its first prestigious IBO Triple Crown tournament. The competition didn't notice. In 1988 High Country bows dominated that event. The competition noticed this victory but still weren't too concerned. In 1989 High Country again dominated and now the competition is paying strict attention. We said it all along. High Country has simply spent more time listening to what archers want instead of telling them. We think that's just good business. We think you do too.

For 1990 High Country is proud to offer a new line of bows, a new riser and enough new accessories to keep every one excited.

To see these newest additions to our line first hand, we invite you to visit your closest High Country dealer to see why High Country Archery has become one of the fastest growing companies in archery.

Coming in the spring of 1990 — The High Country 'CELEBRITY' Line.

The new 'CELEBRITY' Line is a line of high-tech, custom bows that feature some of the most sophisticated materials available, using the most technologically advanced production processes known. The long awaited 'CELEBRITY' Line is every archers dream, a beautiful, hand crafted, precision made shooting instrument. A one of a kind work of art and it will be available soon, only from High Country Archery.

'FAST FLEX' Multi-Lam Limbs

Modern technology has helped High Country design and produce one of the toughest, most sophisticated limbs available anywhere. Patiently manufactured from a number of laminations the 'FAST FLEX' limbs provide strength and power storing flexibility. Each limb is composed of exacting thicknesses of Bow Tuff, Core Tuff, Power Tuff, Carbon Bias Ply & Hybrid Bias Ply or Uni-Carbon. The result is a limb that stores incredible amounts of energy, transfers that energy into record breaking speed, withstands all the forces that are exerted every shot while staying together uniformly shot after shot and look good doing it.

'FAST FLEX' – we build better limbs so you shoot better.

CONQUEST

High Country Champions

It must also be forgiving, adjustable, consistent and be able to combine speed with manageable accuracy. Shot after shot, tournament after tournament. These are what mark a High Country competition bow and what can make you a High Country Champion.

These two competition bows have set the competition on its collective ear winning tournaments indoor and out across the country. Combining eye catching good looks with bulls eye performance sets these two winners apart and puts you in the winners circle.
